

Marie-Anne Dujarier

marie-anne.dujarier@univ-paris-diderot.fr

Professor of sociology

University Denis Diderot, Paris

Marie-Anne Dujarier is a French sociologist of Work and Organizations. She is professor at the University Paris Diderot (Paris 7). She is in charge of the Master of Sociology (Clinical Sociologie and Psychosociology). She had been working at the Sorbonne Nouvelle (Paris 3), and at the École Polytechnique, where she directed social science researches for 3rd-year students. She graduated from a Business School, holds a Master in Work Psychology and another one in Sociology of Organizations (with M. Crozier). After she worked 10 years in private enterprises, she earned her P.H.D in the University Denis Diderot (Paris) and her authorization to supervise research (HDR) at the University of Paris-Ouest Nanterre.

Marie-Anne Dujarier is member of the Laboratory of Social and Political Change (LCSP) at Denis-Diderot University.

Marie-Anne Dujarier is on the Editorial Board of three journals (SociologieS, Travailler, Ergologia) and member of the editorial board for a collection of books specializing in work (Octarès). She is a regular reviewer for French and international Journals.

She is a member of the “Sociology of work” Track at the International Association of French-speaking Sociologists (A.I.S.L.F.) since 2008 and member of the Scientific Committee of JIST (International Congress of Sociology of Work) since 2009. She is a member of the “Clinical sociology” track at the French Sociology Association (AFS) and member of the Advisory Board of the International Clinical Sociology Network (RISC) since 2014, responsible for international networks.

She regularly organizes national and international conferences in Paris, such as:

- « L’activité en théorie : regards croisés sur le travail » (Activity theories : viewpoint on work) with C. Gaudart, A. Gillet and P. Lenel (dec., 3-4, 2018)
- “Les travailleurs du management. Sociohistoire des producteurs de dispositifs” (Workers in management. Sociohistory of those that produce systems) (15-16 September 2016)
- “Le travail à l’épreuve des plateformes numériques” (Work in digital platform organizations) (nov., 13, 2016)
- “Work and Ownership in Digital Labor” (December, 8, 2015), with Trebor Sholz (New School, NY)
- “Travail et activité” (Work and activity) (April, 29-30, 2014)
- “Le client au travail” (Putting consumers to work), at the CNAM (2009)

She currently leads four research seminars in Paris on Work, digital work, clinical sociology and epistemology.

Major research projects

- Survey on Financial Deregulation in a public bank in 1988/89
- Work in mass service organizations. Survey carried out in a Public Assistance geriatric department in Paris, and a private restaurant chain
- Professional relations being tested with expansion eastwards: is this a new laboratory of social relations? Survey directed by V. Delteil in French multinationals in Hungary, Slovakia and Romania. 2006-2007
- Putting consumer to work. Sociological analysis of coproduction situations in railway stations, airports, supermarkets, websites, etc., in Europe and the United States. 2004-2008
- Impact of management by performance on working conditions, at the Ministry of Finance. Joint multidisciplinary project. 2009-2011
- Finance at Work. A.N.R. Contract “CARFI”, headed by Valérie Boussard. 2011-2014
- Sociology of managers – career path, salary, gender, activity, etc. In partnership with and financed by A.P.E.C. 2012-2015
- Transformations of work in the so-called ‘collaborative’ economy’, since 2014

Marie-Anne Dujarier has accepted over a hundred invitations to speak about and discuss her research at French and European seminars and laboratories. She regularly participate to national and international congresses (I.S.A, SASE, AISLF...).

She is regularly invited to government hearings on the question of labor and its transformations.

She is invited many times a year to present her research and participate in debates with social stakeholders: workers’ associations and unions, associations, major companies, high schools, cultural bodies, consultancy and vocational training firms, professional associations (psychoanalysts, geographers, hospital directors, occupational physicians, etc.).

Marie-Anne Dujarier is also very much involved in the dissemination of scientific information and social debate. Her work, since 2006, has been widely reported in the major French-speaking medias (press, radio broadcasts and television programs). She was also asked to participate to five television documentaries on her sociology research, as scientific advisor.